Fairy's waterfall

Fairy's waterfall provides more challenge than meets the eye at first. The ropes are "living" and thus the nets and rope ladders are responsive to every movement. The stable beams and branches encourage climbing, too. This product can be used in many ways, as a meeting point or for exercising. Without specific entry or exit points it is good for social interaction and communication, as well as for hanging out with friends. The Fairy's waterfall consists of two high and two low posts, connected to each other with horizontal beams. The high posts suspend two different types of rope ladders: One hangs straight down from the top beam. The second one is connected diagonally from the top beam to the top of the lower posts. The product is manufactured from locally sourced nordic pine. Available in Natural Tone and Flora Brown.
